

One of the most demanding Croatian dj & producer, DJ Jock has achieved incredible success for the last 10 years. Since Carl Cox mentioned him in an interview in 2015 as a DJ and Producer whose time is coming and since he signed him to his label Intec digital, this Ambassador Award winner for the best Croatian techno dj (three years in a row) has been spending his weekends performing at in the booths of festivals and clubs in Croatia, America, England, Netherlands, Switzerland, Czech Republic and many others. Sonus Festival, Ultra Europe, Exit's Dance Arena, Germany's Ikarus Festival, are just some of the places where DJ Jock shared the desk with Carl Cox, Adam Beyer, Joseph Capriati, Jeff Mills, Amelie Lens, Charlotte de Witte, Boris Brejcha and many others to others.

In 2017, he started a series of parties called Roots in his hometown Split, where he brought some of the biggest names in techno. One time a year in Split he plays 7 hours sets, which earned him the status of a legend. With many original productions signed on big labels and tons of tracks played by big Djs ( Carl Cox, Adam Beyer, Joseph Capriati, Amelie Lens, Sasha), this wonderkid did not rest during the pandemic-he worked hard in the studio. In 2022 he made the soundtrack for the film Have You Seen This Woman, which was screened at the famous Venice Film Festival, and released another soundtrack for the PC game Chef Tastic: Buffet Blast, which received excellent reviews.
